ST. PIUS X PARISH

Intentionally Celebrate Holy Week with Us!

Welcome! Thank you for choosing to worship with us today. We hope you will find warmth and hospitality here. St. Pius X is a vibrant parish with many ways to be engaged. If you would like more information on registration, activities, or ministries that are offered for people of all ages, please contact the parish office at 406.656.2522. You may also visit our website at stpiusxblgs.org, find us on Facebook at 'St. Pius X,' or on Instagram @stpiusx_blgs.

Individual Confession

No confessions on Saturday, April 8 due to the Easter Vigil.

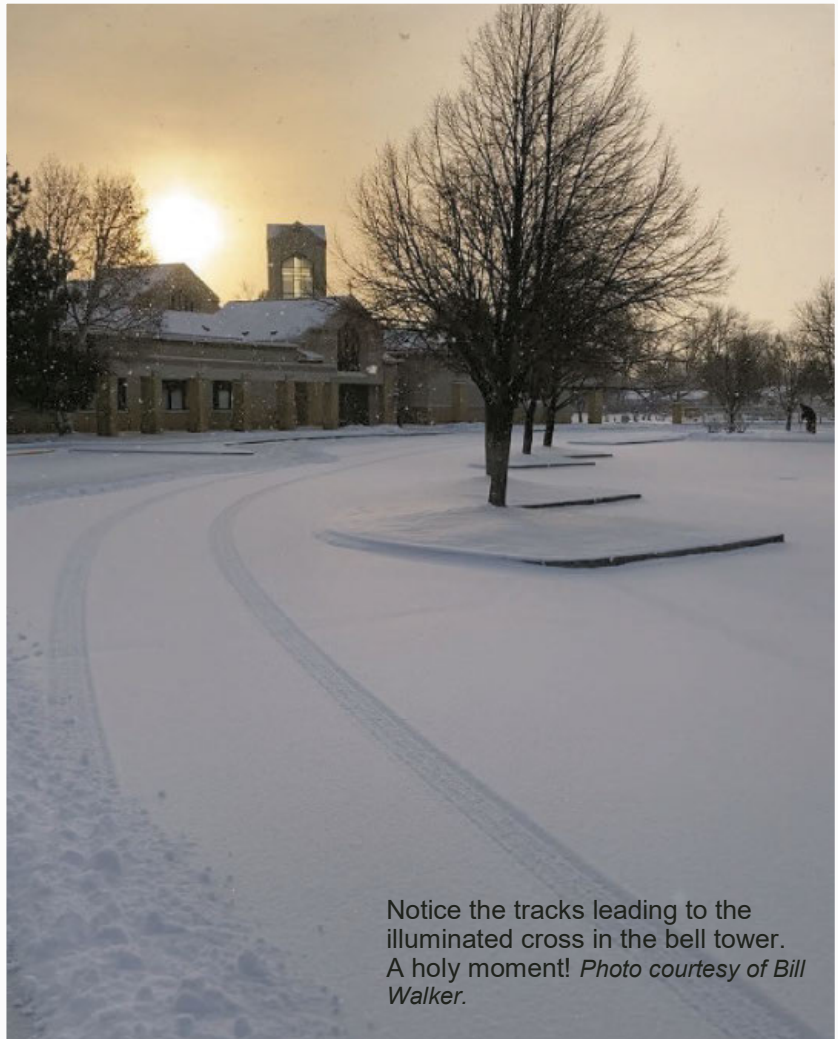

Good Friday is a Day of Fasting and Abstinence for Catholics

- Fasting is for those age 18-59. Eat one full meal, as well as two smaller meals together that are not equal to a full meal. We do this to join in solidarity with those suffering throughout our world.
- Abstinence is for those age 14 and older. Avoid meat (beast or fowl) or rich food on Fridays. This practice is an invitation to grow in discipleship by deepening our personal awareness of dependence on God.
- What in my life gets in the way of my relationship with Jesus? Can I plan to fast from this thing/activity and replace it with prayer or good deeds?

Children's Ministry

We will not have class during Holy Week (April 4/5) so that families can attend the Triduum services. Our last class will be April 11/12.

Second-year sacramental preparation classes, we have a mandatory rehearsal on Wednesday, April 26 at 6:30pm in the church. See you then!

Meet the Staff

Joan Whelan - Director of Music

Time at St. Pius X? I've been part of the music ministry here at St. Pius for over 20 years. Father Wayne hired me as Director of Music on Ash Wednesday, 2014.

Primary Responsibilities? All things music. I schedule the choirs, ensembles and cantors; create the music plans; coordinate rehearsal schedules; direct the parish choir, ensemble, Souled Out, and Young Proclaimers; and ensure that St. Pius is in compliance with all music licensing requirements.

Favorite part of your job? Honestly, it is easier to identify the least favorite part of my job...licensing compliance...it is tedious and never ending! UGH!! As for the favorite part...MUSIC! St. Augustine said "To sing is to pray twice." I am so grateful that we have such dedicated musicians and an assembly here at St. Pius who share that belief. Music elevates whatever tone the scripture reveals. On Palm Sunday, we begin with joyous music to celebrate Christ's entrance into Jerusalem, only to mournfully intone, "My God, why have you abandoned me" and "Were you there when they crucified my Lord" later in that same Mass. I'll share a memory. Several years ago, I was standing to direct the choir at the beginning of the Triduum on Holy Thursday. We intentionally do not sing any prelude music on Holy Thursday, so the cantor announced our Gathering Song and Mary Landry began to play. Shivers went down my spine as the assembly joyously, almost raucously, sang out "Come to the feast of heaven on earth, come to the table of plenty." I was stunned by the volume in the church. I looked at Mary afterward, smiled and mouthed "WOW." It was a holy moment of shared faith!

Hobbies? I love theater...especially musical theater. I love to bake. I love the challenge of planning and cooking for special occasions. I count myself among the best of sports fans when the children of family or friends are participating!

What is an unexpected blessing of working at St. Pius X? Long before I joined the staff, Rosalie gave Mary and I permission to start the Youth Choir. I smile when I think back to a six-year-old Sarah Pankratz standing on the pew imitating my hand gestures to direct all of the people in the rows behind her. Now, as I'm looking at the Young Proclaimers and members of the Youth Choir who have stepped up to help lead the assembly, I'm filled with joy and gratitude that I'm allowed to share the gift of music with all these young disciples.

What advice for the spiritual life have you received that made a difference in your life? God invites us to look at our life as a generosity contest. ~ From a Matthew Kelly podcast many years ago.

Ministry Spotlight: Marriage Tribunal Office

The Office of Marriage Tribunal provides compassion and support to Catholics who are looking for support with healing their past marriages and for annulments so they can practice their Catholic faith fully. This is a shared ministry and a part of pastoral care of the Diocese. This office is staffed by the Tribunal Director, Judicial Vicar and Judge, Adjunct Judicial Vicar, and two Defenders of the Bond. Their goal is to foster healing and spiritual growth through the compassionate and just application of the law in ministry of serving God's people.

Additionally, there is support through programs such as Retrouvaille for troubled marriages, Marriage Encounter for good marriages looking for a boost, and being a resource to our priests by helping to train advocates who work with their parish to journey with couples as they navigate these areas.

St. Pius X Knights of Columbus Council 9976

Brother Knights, may we all be blessed by our Lord Jesus Christ as we enter into Holy Week and the most sacred Easter Triduum. I want to remind you there will be no Bingo on Easter Sunday.

On Friday, April 14, we will return to our weekly Friday Bingo games. We are still in great need of Knights to help us host this fundraising event. Currently, there are Knights who have to help every week in order to keep the game going. We can't sustain that kind of effort in the long run. Please consider helping out one Friday night a month. Contact Ron Bough for further information. He can be reached at: 406.670.1664.

Scripture Reflection: Palm Sunday

Matthew 21:1-11

Isaiah 50:4-7

Ps. 22:8-9, 17-20, 23-24

Philippians 2:6-11

Matthew 26:14-27:66

Writing a reflection for Palm Sunday is intimidating because the Scriptures are so rich and complete that reflection could (and should) go on for hours, days or even weeks. In fact, the Church generally gives us the content of these texts in smaller bites throughout the year just so we can begin to absorb the fullness of this series of events and the meaning of God's plan for all humans embedded within these texts.

Intimidated or not, the invitation of the Liturgical day pulls us to a "geography of faith" from mountaintop to gorge and back to hilltop and finally into the garden of creation embedded in the City of Peace (Jeru-shalem) – all in the perfectly complete symbol of seven days.

Just a short time ago I returned from a pilgrimage where we went from one mountaintop in northern Spain following the pilgrimage of Saint Ignatius Loyola – across a broad plain to another mountaintop of transformation and then on to the City of Rome where Ignatius lived out the fullness of his pilgrimage of discovery of himself and of God's will for him. This geography of faith is remarkably similar to that which Jesus walked in the week between Palm Sunday and Easter.

The first Gospel of Palm Sunday – this year from Matthew – begins outside the worship space where a crowd gathers to welcome him with palm branches and hosannas of praise. This short text begins with the statement "Jesus and the disciples...came to the Mount of Olives near the village of Bethphage." Like the people of the village and Jerusalem itself, the Church recognizes its Lord at this first mountaintop, but will not recognize God's plan for him and for us to descend to the valley, celebrate the Passover meal, and ascend the Mount of Golgotha to be crucified unto death toward the end of the week.

The rest of the story moves to the humility of true humanity: as glorious as the human is in creation, the human is not God and even fails to be fully human much of the time. This knowledge comes from suffering – most of all suffering the rejection by other humans that one is created to be in union with. The knowledge also comes from acknowledging our collaboration with causing that suffering for others and for our own self destruction.

Why do we humans despise the one who loves and saves us? Because we are so arrogant that we do not want to NEED to be loved and saved. We hate the one who rescues us because we don't want to need rescuing. We project the fear and hate we feel for our fragility and limitedness on the one who will redeem us from such limitedness and join us to Divine life. This, then, is what Jesus endures for us in the valley between the mountains – the truth of our createdness. We are not the masters of our fate, the creators of our own future. We are subordinate to the will and desire of the Creator – and we hate even the fact that that will and desire is for us to be fully alive and happy – but on God's terms not our own.

At the end of the second week of the Spiritual Exercises of Saint Ignatius we pray for the gift of true humility – that is for the truth of ourselves to be known and loved. Then, in this process of spiritual awakening, we enter the Third Week where our prayer is answered in-so-far as we align ourselves with Jesus, who accomplished perfect humility. "Though he was in the form of God he did not deem equality with God something to be stolen (grasped at)" Saint Paul tells us in the New Testament reading before the Gospel of the Passion is read. Here at the center of the word we are handed the key to the whole week ahead of us. If we would be faithful to our baptismal promises and live in the Body of Christ we must embrace this humility of God's own Son.

The Church then leads us through the passion account according to Matthew. There is much to meditate on in this long and descriptive text, but my prayer led me to the verses about Peter's denial that he even knew Jesus. Here is the point of our times, perhaps writ large. We want to deny that we have anything to do with Jesus. He who loves us so much that he gives everything of himself to give us full humanity and his own Divine life – asks us to stand with him in his suffering. Like Peter I often say "no." I pray that each one of us who fails to love, see Jesus's gaze and feel the grief at our failure that Peter felt.

May this Holy Week bring you (and me) from mountaintop to mountaintop – from truth to truth or humility to deeper humility – and then to the Garden of New Creation where Jesus dwells.
